Cultural Mobility Funding Guide

For the international mobility of artists and cultural professionals

The Netherlands | Edition 2021-2022

Obtaining funding to finance international travel is a considerable challenge. Due to the Covid-19 related travel restrictions and the concomitant suspension of mobility funding possibilities, opportunities to go abroad have been limited in 2020 and 2021. Public art funds are waiting to release funding until it is safe to travel and stay in the country of destination as indicated by the colour codes green and yellow here. At the same time new funding schemes have become available to support the cultural sector in the Netherlands providing some relief from the cancellation or postponement of (international) projects. In some instances mobility funds have continued to support international exchange by funding online collaborations between artists and institutions across the world¹. At the time of writing travel restrictions are being eased and re-tightened regularly, and borders are slowly re-opening for growing groups of (vaccinated) travellers.

On the Move and DutchCulture, Centre for International Cooperation have teamed up to provide you with this updated guide including information and tips on how and where to find funding for your mobility as an artist, a cultural professional and/or a cultural organisation to and/or from the Netherlands. There can be different reasons why you are looking for mobility funding, and among them:

- You have been selected for a project in a foreign country (collaboration project, residency, participation in an event like a festival etc.) but are not provided funding for your transportation;
- You have developed a project with an international component and you wish to invite foreign artists and cultural professionals in one or more places/countries for co-production, touring, market development etc.;
- You are interested in working experiences (including training) in a foreign country and are seeking means to cover your travel costs.

The main objective of this cultural mobility funding guide is to provide an overview of the funding bodies and programmes that support the international mobility of artists and cultural operators from the Netherlands and travelling to the Netherlands. This document is the 2021-2022 edition, updated from the Cultural Mobility Funding Guide the Netherlands 2019-2020 and the Guide to funding opportunities for the international mobility of artists and culture professionals in Europe produced by the Foundation Interarts, On the Move and PRACTICS first published online in September 2011.

pag. 76

This present guide includes:

- Mobility funding opportunities open to Dutch nationals and residents in most artistic and cultural disciplines, described as Outgoing mobility (OM);
- Mobility funding opportunities open to nationals from other countries than the Netherlands in most artistic and cultural disciplines, described as Incoming mobility (IM)

The guide lists local, national and international resources, be they public or private. Only regular opportunities accessible online are listed. Funds for which information is only available offline, not based on open calls, and ad hoc or short-term funding are not included.

This guide also aims to provide input for funders and policy makers on how to fill the existing gaps in funding for international cultural exchange. This guide is modelled on the Guides to funding opportunities for the international mobility of artists and culture professionals in Europe, Asia, the Arab Region, the USA and Africa².

The information is organised according to the following structure:

- 1 Public foundations and/or agencies based in the Netherlands supporting international cultural exchange;
- 2 Regional and/or city public funding organisations from the Netherlands supporting international cultural exchange;
- 3 Private foundations or structures supporting international cultural exchange to and/or from the Netherlands;
- 4 Fellowships and international visitors programmes to the Netherlands;
- 5 Residencies in the Netherlands providing travel grants and/or substantial stipends;
- 6 Rent-free residencies in the Netherlands;
- 7 Other types of financial structures relevant in the Netherlands, including local crowdfunding platforms;
- 8 Additional information resources relating to international cultural exchange with the Netherlands.

We do want to emphasise that international projects may be (in part) funded by opportunities not listed in this guide. For instance, a designer might intend to develop a light installation to be displayed at a gallery in Rotterdam, as well as present it at the Salon del Mobile in Milan. The presentation of the installation in Milan might be funded by mobility funding, or as part of a larger application initially intended to fund the making and display of the work in the Netherlands.

For an overview of the different funding opportunities for arts and culture available in the Netherlands (so not just intended for international mobility), please refer to Cultuur + Ondernemen's Culturele Financieringswijzer \(in Dutch\).

This guide is an attempt to gather all the resources in one document. It draws on extensive online research as well as on previously completed studies. The information was mostly compiled and/or updated by Laurens Meijer and Dicle Gülşahin from DutchCulture, in close collaboration with Marie Le Sourd from On the Move (OTM).

This guide is by no means complete and the information provided does not grant any rights to individuals or organisations when applying to any of the organisations or funders mentioned in this guide.

Though the guide attempts to be as extensive and accurate as possible, the individual entries may be outdated, inaccurate or incomplete. Please refer to the websites of the funds included in this guide for the latest updates related to covid-19. If you notice errors when reading through this document, please send your comments, suggestions and corrections to: infopoint@dutchculture.nl.

If you have any questions regarding mobility funding schemes in other countries, we suggest consulting the other Cultural Mobility Funding Guides published on the On the Move website. For regular and one off calls for projects, collaborations and other opportunities to fund international cultural exchange, we invite you to subscribe to the monthly newsletter at <http://on-the-move.org/newsletter>.

There are other transnational funding opportunities that may be used for mobility to and from the Netherlands but are excluded from the guide due to the fact that the funding organisation is not based in the Netherlands. One important funder is the European Union with the Creative Europe 2021-2027 programme. A new, and important addition is the i-Portunus programme, which supports short-term mobility for artists and culture professionals. Available transnational mobility opportunities are listed below:

Funding from the European Union:

- Creative Europe Culture or MEDIA within the Netherlands: refer to creativeeuropedesk.nl
- Creative Europe in another country, refer to https://ec.europa.eu/programmes/creative-europe/contact_en
- i-Portunus short-term mobility funding scheme: <https://www.i-portunus.eu/>

| On the Move

On the Move signposts on a free, regular and updated manner funding opportunities for the mobility of artists and cultural professionals – all disciplines covered – in Europe and worldwide. Thanks to its members' and partners' expertise, On the Move also shares information on key challenges related to cultural mobility (eg. visas, social protection, taxation, environmental issues). Beyond this information channel, On the Move facilitates training, workshop and/or makes public presentations on cultural mobility issues and internationalisation of practices for the arts and cultural sector.

Born as a website in 2002 as project of IETM (the international network of contemporary performing arts), it has evolved as a dynamic network which now counts more than 50 member-organisations and individuals. On the Move is funded through a regular subsidy from the French Ministry of Culture and through projects' support with European networks, ministries, national cultural institutes, independent organisations etc.

| DutchCulture

DutchCulture is the national network and knowledge organisation for international cultural cooperation in the Netherlands. It is also the point of contact for the cultural sector in the Netherlands and Dutch diplomatic posts abroad. Among other things, DutchCulture provides information on European grants and on artist-in-residences throughout the world, organises work visits for embassies and foreign experts, collects information on the export of Dutch culture in their extensive database, stimulates collaboration and coordinates cultural programmes worldwide. DutchCulture works together with organisations, diplomatic posts, governments and artists themselves, with individual advice and tailored guidance. DutchCulture hosts TransArtists, your guide on international artist-in-residence opportunities. We combine and share knowledge and experience on artist-in-programmes and other international opportunities for creative professionals to temporarily stay and work elsewhere. DutchCulture | TransArtists' goal is to make the enormous worldwide residential art labyrinth accessible and usable to artists through its website, workshops, research and projects.

DutchCulture is funded by the Ministry of Education, Culture and Science; the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Ministry of Interior and Kingdom Relations and the European Commission. DutchCulture is a member of On the Move.
